UNITED PEACE MEETING GETS SOLID ACTION

CHARTER IMPROVED OVER DUMBARTON, EDEN THINKS

BY DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

San Francisco, May 10. (AP)—The United Nations conference turned down a Russian labor proposal today as it whisked through a round of decision - making committee meetings, then came to a dead stop on one big issue.

A committee considering the structure of a world security council found a suggestion for enlarging the council's membership too hot to handle right now. It debated the question briskly, but put off a showdown vote.

The council is the core of proposed world mechanism for keeping peace, and small nations want to expand its membership from 11 to 14 or 15, so they will have a bigger hand in maintaining international security. Present plans are to have five big power members, six smaller ones.

Moscow Voted Down

The Russians lost out on their proposition when the conference steering committee rejected the idea of letting world trade union leaders into deliberations of a committee working on economic and social problems.

Moves were under way toward compromises on two major issues —trusteeships for strategic or dependent areas of the world and letting Pan-America solve its own peace - keeping problems without slicing a new world league into rival blocs.

An American delegate, Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.), was reported to have promised a committee that the United States would bring forward as soon as possible a plan for solving the riddle of managing regionals security systems. The American delegation will tackle the matter again tomorrow.

England Left Alone

Russia and China produced proposals on international trusteeships today which were described as fairly close to an American plan. That put Britain in a somewhat isolated position among the big-four countries sponsoring the conference, with its proposals considerably different from the others.

The committee which failed to vote on expanding the security council did accept a big four amendment under which the smaller nations would be picked for membership on it according to geographical positions and their ability to contribute to a world police force.

Atrocity Trials Pushed

And outside the official business of the conference was disclosed a United States proposal that organizations such as the Nazi party, as well as individuals, be tried for atrocities and war crimes.

The conference accomplishments so far brought from British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden a news conference declaration that he was "thoroughly convinced that we will leave here with a better charter than the one that was outlined at Dumbarton Oaks."

Eden laid particular emphasis on a change backed by the sponsoring powers — China, Russia, Britain and the United States — which he said would give a world security council authority to make definite recommendations for peaceful settlements of disputes without letting any of the big five powers veto such a recommendation against itself.

HARRY FLEISHER

MIKE SELIK

SAM FLEISHER

IN GANGLAND PLOT? — Three former Detroit Purple gangsters, Harry and Sam Fleisher and Mike Selik, will appear in justice court at Battle Creek this morning for examination on charges of conspiring to murder state Senator Warren G. Hooper, who was slain mysteriously on a lonely side road in Jackson county on the evening of Jan. 11. Appearing with the former gangsters will be Pete Mahoney, a small-time Detroit cafe operator and gambler. Surprise witnesses are promised by Special Prosecutor Kim Sigler, who has maintained that Hooper was killed to "shut his mouth" regarding his confession to the grand jury on graft paid for legislative favors.

Mobsters Face Hearing In Battle Creek Today For Sen. Hooper Murder

BY JACK I. GREEN

Battle Creek, Mich., May 10. (AP) —Michigan awaited a justice court examination here tomorrow for the first official glimpses of what the Carr grand jury contends was a gangland plot to slay State Senator Warren G. Hooper.

Four Detroit men, three of whom are described by the state police as former Purple gangsters, face examination at 10 a. m. (C. W. T.) on charges of conspiracy to murder Hooper, who was slain mysteriously on a lonely country road in Jackson county on the evening of Jan. 11.

The four are Harry Fleischer, declared by police to be a one-time leader of Detroit's notorious "Purples," Sam Fleischer, his brother, Mike Selik, an associate of the Fleischers, and Pete Mahoney, a small-time Detroit cafe operator and gambler.

The trio have been held in bond of $25,000 each since their arraignment before Justice of the Peace W. H. Ribbings last week.

The Hooper slaying has been almost shadowed by a mounting cloud of rumor and speculation as to what lay behind it.

Special Prosecutor Kim Sigler of the grand jury staff has said Hooper, an Albion Republican, was slain to shut his mouth, explaining that the senator had confessed to the grand jury and had implicated others in a tale of graft paid for legislative favors.

Sigler said he would place "seven or eight" witnesses on the stand for the examination. He said it would continue through Saturday, and might run into Monday.

The colorful special prosecutor, who also has been named as assistant Calhoun and Jackson county prosecutor to aid in unraveling the nationally - famous Hooper murder case, promises "surprise" witnesses, hinting at sensational disclosures.

There have been recurrent reports, undenied officially, that underworld characters have "talked" to the grand jury and to the state police, weaving a web of evidence around some of the persons Sigler contends were responsible for Hooper's brutal murder.

Sigler has said the murder was bought and paid for by "higher ups," but there have been no official disclosures of what lies behind the arrest of the quartette now facing the courts.

The four men were snatched up quickly and quietly in their homes by Detroit and state police and subjected to relentless questioning at the state police post near Jackson, headquarters for the Hooper case manhunt.

Harry Fleischer and Selik have been sentenced to 30 and 60-day jail terms, respectively, for contempt of court, ostensibly for refusing to answer questions put to them by Sigler and Judge Leland W. Carr, the grand juror.

The four have over their heads maximum prison sentences of five years on the conspiracy count. Both the Fleischers have served time in federal penitentiaries, while Selik has a prison record in Michigan.

FINES IMPOSED IN GRAFT CASE

Naturopaths Who Plead Guilty Pay $1,000 Each At Lansing

Lansing, May 10. (AP) — Three persons who pleaded guilty to participating in the 1939 naturopathic graft conspiracy case today were fined $1,000 each when they appeared before Circuit Judge Leland W. Carr for sentencing.

Those fined were Max Rosenfeld, Detroit chiropractor; Harry E. McKinney, Richmond, Va., and Clayton R. McKinney, Chattanooga, Tenn., who formerly operated a naturopathic clinic at Centerville.

The three sentenced today and 10 other persons were accused by Judge Carr's one-man grand jury investigating state government of conspiring to corrupt the legislature in the futile attempt by the American Naturopathic association of Michigan to have the healing art of naturopathy recognized by the state.

In imposing the fine in lieu of prison sentence, Judge Carr said he felt "The ends of justice do not require that any one of you be required to spend time in any institution of the state, because no one of you can be regarded as a prime mover in what took place."

DETROIT HAS SNOWFALL

Detroit, May 10. (AP)—Snow fell in sizeable flakes for two and a half hours in Detroit today and the weather man warned of a heavy frost tonight.

OBJECTOR CAMP CLOSES JUNE 1

Germfask Group Will Be Transferred To Fight Forest Fires

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 10. (AP) — The civilian public service camp at Germfask, in Schoolcraft county, will be closed about June 1, according to information received by U. S. Attorney Joseph F. Deeb today from national selective service headquarters.

Deep said he was notified the approximately 90 conscientious objectors now detained at the camp would be moved to Weaversville, Calif., to work in timberlands in the Trinity National Forest during the fire-fighting season. There is no indication, he added, that the men would be returned to the western Michigan judicial district.

Because of recurring desertions, hunger strikes and other disciplinary problems, Deeb had sought a transfer of the objectors out of Michigan. Since it was opened 15 months ago, the camp has been a center for the care of trouble-making objectors sent from about 100 other church and government camps in the United States.

After the Germfask camp is closed, the only conscientious objector camp in the state will be the one at Wellston in the Manistee National Forest. The Wellston camp is operated by the national service board for religious objectors.

Sweden To Relieve Newsprint Shortage

Washington, May 10 (AP)—Relief for America's depleted woodpulp and newsprint stocks is anticipated in an early resumption of woodpulp shipments from Sweden to other European countries.

It was learned tonight that Sweden expects to resume such shipments within the next thirty days.

PRICE CONTROL RUNS INTO SNAG

Fight Brewing On Curbs During Shift Over To Civilian Production

Washington, May 10 (AP)—Administration plans for control of prices and wages during the reconversion period ran head-on into opposition from Senator Taft (R-Ohio) today with strong indications of a big fight brewing.

Simultaneous with release of the war labor board's plan to hold wages stable as war industries turn to civilian consumption, Taft introduced legislation to lift wage controls January 1 and to ease price controls after this year.

Specifically Taft wanted price curbs taken off "all luxury and other commodities the price of which in the opinion of" the price administrator "does not substantially affect the cost of living." He also proposed a requiremtn that any price ceilings set after January 1 allow "the same margin over cost" as was realized in the average of the years 1938, 1939 and 1940. He wanted no maximum rents fixed on any housing on which construction is begun after July 1, 1945.

Taft conceded that some price price control—but less than exists now—may be needed for two more years.

The pricing aspects of the Taft proposal collided with control plans often urged by the administration, and re-emphasized yesterday by War Mobilization Director Fred M. Vinson. Administrative agencies have urged close controls, on the ground they are necessary to prevent an inflationary boom followed by a disastrous collapse.

Vinson urged mantenance of both wage and price controls until Japan is beaten and others have sad they will be needed still longer.

Bottle Liquors Go Up After June 1

Lansing, May 10 (AP)—It is estimated Michigan's new 10 per cent liquor tax will increase the bottle price of liquors from 19 to 39 cents, the Liquor Control Commission said today. The commission hopes to have the tax in effect by June 1.

U.S. Service Troops Shifted Into China

Washington, May 10 (AP)—A big shift of American service troops and transport to China was disclosed today 24 hours after the army revealed that it expects to unload supplies on the China coast.

The latest development was a war department report that service troops, in a huge truck convoy, already have been moved to China from the Persian Gulf area where they helped supply the Soviet army.

General Brehon Somervell injected a reference to China into news conference discussion yesterday of problems confronting the service forces, which he commands, in getting equipment into the Pacific theatre.

Unlike the European theatre when there were excellent docks and sufficient manpower in Britain to handle the supplies, he said facilities and qualified men are extremely limited in the orient.

Significantly, Somervell also observed that more bases must be secured to carry the air war to Japan.

Taken jointly, the two Chinese developments served to point up divergences of thought on general strategy against Japan, rather than to indicate what particular strategy the army has chosen.

One school holds that the bulk of Japan's 4,000,000 man army is in China and Manchuria, and constitutes the primary target. That theory calls for invasion of China from the sea, and its supporters argue that bases in China would help speed the eventual invasion of the enemy homeland.

The other school favors a direct thrust into the Japanese islands, contending the destruction of Japanese industry and occupation of the islands would mean the end of Japan. Its supporters argue that a reinforced Chinese army could clear the Japanese off the mainland

JAPS HIT OKINAWA SHIPPNG; B-29s WRECK FACTORY

BY AL DOPKING

Guam, Friday, May 11 (AP) — A large force of 100 to 150 Superfortresses today bombed the Kawanishi aircraft plant at Fukae on the main Japanese island of Honshu while a smaller B-29 fleet hit two airfields on Kyushu, southernmost in the mainland chain.

The strike, following yesterday's powerful smash by more than 400 Superfortresses, strongly indicated that the only remaining Axis partner is in for more frequent and more destructive pounding of his homeland.

The Kawanishi plant, one of the principal seaplane factories in Japan, is between Kobe and Osaka on south-central Honshu. Bombing was visual. Results were not yet made known. Two important Japanese aircraft works — Hiro naval aircraft factory and Tachikawa engine plant—were damaged heavily by recent B-29 raids, reconnaissance photographs disclosed today.

The pictures show the Hiro factory, five miles east of Kure on Honshu Island, was damaged 75 per cent in one attack, that of May 5. on the same day, other Superfortresses caused 80 per cent roof area damage to nearby Hiro naval engine and turbine factory.

The Tachikawa engine plant of the Hitachi Aircraft Company in the Tokyo area was 80 per cent burned out April 24.

All major buildings of the Hiro naval aircraft factory were severely or completely damaged with the single exception of one multicolored building which appeared to have suffered three hits. Twenty-eight buildings sustained a total of 700,000 square feet of roof damage.

In the same attack, 870,000 square feet of the roof area of the Hiro naval engine and turbine factory was damaged. Several buildings of the nearby Hiro arsenal were destroyed or damaged.

RAID PROVES FLOP

Guam, Friday, May 11 (AP) — American troops have killed 38,857 Japanese on Okinawa and nearby islands thorough Wednesday, Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today.

This increased enemy casualties by 2,322 in two days. American 10th Army casualties through Monday were 16,425, including 2,684 dead.

The Japanese made several attacks on American shipping off Okinawa Wednesday evening,

War Regulations Eased In Britain

London, May 10 (AP)—Britain dropped 84 defense regulations today and amended 25 others imposed at the start of the war.

Among things Britons now can do is go on camping trips, except in northern Scotland, signal with a handkerchief to a ship at sea or an airplane, keep homing and racing pigeons and send messages by them.

Revocation of other orders will permit week-night greyhound racing and more horse racing.

Point System Set For Discharge Of U.S. Army Veterans

BY EDWARD H. HIGGS

Washington, May 10 (AP)—Soldiers who have rolled up a point score of 85—based on length and toughness of service and fatherhood—are eligible for release, the war department disclosed today.

One child, one year in the army, one year overseas count 12 points each under the system for cutting the fighting force. Each combat decoration adds five points.

Approximately 1,300,000 men, including 650,000 in Europe and 433,000 in the Pacific area, will be released during the next 12 months under the plan.

This number may be stepped higher by maintaining draft calls above actual replacement needs.

Another 700,000 men also are scheduled to be released from service because of physical disability, age, or other factors.

"Critical" scores for the various forces—air, ground, service and WACS—have not yet been set but to avoid any delay in demobilization, the army has fixed the interim score of 85 (44 for WACS) as the minimum for discharge. These minima may be lowered later.

Those who have built up the required score are eligible for release now and some of them will move to separation centers within a week. However, some men with the required score may be retained because the army needs their special skills and no replacement is immediately available. Officials said every possible step would be taken to obtain replacements for such men.

The score card for computing eligibility for discharge, was released simultaneously at the war department and to soldiers around the world. Here is the weight given to each factor:

One point will be credited for each month of army service since September 16, 1940. (The time of service is computed from the date the soldier reached the reception center. Any 15-days or more will count as a month).

Service in the armed forces of an ally nation, or in the navy, marines or coast guard will be credited as though it were U. S. army service.

One point will be given for each month served overseas since September 16, 1940.

Five points will be given for each army award for combat, such as the Distinguished Service Cross, Purple Heart and Battle Participation Stars; for each similar award made by the navy and for each award or decoration granted by a foreign country and recognized by the war department.

Twelve points will be allowed for each child under 18 years, up

BUSINESS TAXES TO BE REVISED

Easing Of War Burden Designed To Aid In Reconversion

BY FRANCIS M. LE MAY

Washington, May 10 (AP)—Immediate sweeping revisions of business taxes, designed to aid in reconversion from war to peace production, was recommanded jointly today by the senate-house postwar tax committee and the treasury department.

The program does not call for any reduction in tax rates, but includes other provisions easing the burden on many businesses.

Five specific recommendations for revisions were made as follows:

1—Increase the excess-profits-tax specific exemption from $10,000 to $25,000, effective beginning with the tax year 1946.

2—Provide that the postwar credit of 10 per cent of the excess-profits tax be taken currently with respect to tax libabilities of 1944 and subsequent years.

3—Advance to January 1, 1946, the maturity date of outstanding excess profits tax postwar refund bonds.

4—Provide for speed-up of refunds resulting from carry-backs of net operating losses and of unused excess-profits credits.

5—Provide for speed-up of refunds resulting from the recomputation of deductions for amortization of emergency facilities.

The program makes no recommendation for any immediate change in individual or corporation income taxes. Treasury Secretary Morgenthau indicated today the administration is opposed to any such reduction until Japan is defeated.

Fire In Kalamazoo Home Proves Fatal To Four Children

Kalamazoo, Mich., May 10 (AP)—An explosion and fire in a home here today took the lives of four small children and their father.

The father, Donald Abbey, burned in efforts to rescue the children, died in Bronson hospital tonight.

The mother was giving the three youngest children a bath in the kitchen and stepped out of the room for a few minutes on an errand. While she was gone, one of her other children placed a can of kerosene on the hot stove.

Flaming liquid spread by the explosion turned the entire room into a fiery furnace. Mrs. Abbey snatched four-year-old Sharon to safety but she was unable to enter the kitchen to rescue the others. The victims were Eugene, 5; Marion, 2; Diane 1, and Lawrence, five months.

Donald, 12, who ran to his mother screaming for help, suffered third degree burns. Ruth, 9, and James, 7, were in school at the time.

The interior of the house was destroyed.

Explosion Kills 21 In Utah Coal Mine

Sunnyside, Utah, May 10 (AP)—A terrific explosion killed at least 21 persons in a coal mine of the Utah Fuel Company.

Two other men were missing and believed dead and seven more were injured in the blast late yesterday.

Most of those injured were badly burned.

No Let-Down Seen In Draft Until The Defeat Of Japan

Lansing, May 10 (AP)—The state selective service headquarters said today it had no indication from federal draft officials or army sources that there would be any substantial let-down in draft calls until the defeat of Japan.

The headquarters estimated between 2,000 and 3,000 Michigan men over 18 years of age—half under 30 and half over 30—will continue to be drafted monthly until the end of the war.

Brig. Gen. LeRoy Pearson, state director, said that if draft calls remain at their present high level the drafting of youths reaching 18 years of age will not be enough to meet quotas and that the older men must be drawn.

He said Michigan will receive 2,000 of the 50,000 men over 42 years of age slated for discharge, and about 80,000 of the first 2,000,000 demobilized

BATTERED LST TO TOUR LAKES

"Hit The Beach" Cruise Booked At Request Of War Workers

New Orleans, May 10 (AP)—A combat-scarred LST, docked today enroute to Chicago for an exhibition tour of cities of the Great Lakes and Mississippi regions, so that war workers may get a first-hand view of one of the products of their nearly four years of toil for victory in Europe.

Eighth Naval District headquarters said this was the first landing ship tank to make the 12,000-mile inland water cruise up the Mississippi river.

Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief, U. S. fleet and chief of naval operations, directed the cruise in response to requests from war workers in centers from Duluth to New Orleans.

The LST (No. 512) was salvaged after being crippled in action off Normandy. It will carry a shipload of timely invasion exhibits which will be displayed in a series of demonstrations, "Hit the Beach."

At Chicago the vessel is to be equipped with ship-to-shore battle arms and manned by combat veterans of the navy, marine corps and coast guard for its exhibition tour.

"D-Day" for the "Hit the Beach' tour is scheduled for Detroit on June 6, the first anniversary of the Allied assault on Normandy.

NAZIS REFUSE TO SURRENDER; TRAP FORMED

CHANNEL ISLANDS AND DUNKERQUE LIBERATED

BY ROMNEY WHEELER

London, Friday, May 11 (AP)—Moscow announced last night that German forces in Czecho-Slovakia had refused to surrender and that the Red army had "gone over to the attack" in a powerful offensive that threatened to trap hundreds of thousands of Nazi troops in a giant 9,900-square mile pocket.

Bitter fighting was raging in Czecho-Slovakia more than 48 hours after the official end of all hostilities in Europe. But elsewhere, remnants of beaten Germany's once-powerful surface and underwater fleets surrendered while the British navy liberated England's own tiny channel islands and Dunkerque—scene of the war's greatest Allied defeat—also was freed.

Over 63,000 Prisoners

Under the all-out onslaught of three Russian armies, some German troops in Czecho-Slovakia were beginning to lay down their arms, Moscow reported. More than 63,000 were taken prisoner Wednesday and Thursday.

The Soviet war bulletin said that "German troops commanded by Field Marshal (Ferdinand) Schoerner, infringing the act of capitulation, refused to remain on the spot and lay down their arms." Schoerner himself is wanted by the Russians as a war criminal.

Consequently troops of the First Ukrainian front have gone over to the attack," Moscow said. At the same time, Moscow said that Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian army also had opened an offensive against enemy troops commanded by Col. Gen. Wyller, which also refused to surrender.

Army In Disorder

Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainians captured the towns of Podborany, Nove-Straseci, Berounm Gorowice, Kraljpe, Litomerice and Secka-Lipa on a 60-mile front northwest and southwest of Prague.

Threatened by encirclement, one group of Schoerner's army began to surrender in disorder, Moscow said, and 35,000 troops were captured. "Another group of Schoerner's forces", the communique said, "also infringed capitulation terms and began to withdraw to the west. These forces were pursued across northeastern Moravia and Bohemia from the Sudetenland by Gen. Andrei I. Yeremenko's Fourth Ukrainian army, which accupied Rychnov and Skotelec, and captured 20,000 enemy troops.

Meanwhile, Malinovsky's troops smashed deeper across southeastern Bohemia and seized 8,000 troops. With the three mighty Russian armies pressing in from all sides, the entire group of Schoerner's armies faced being slashed to pieces in one of the greatest pockets ever forged by the Red army.

Benes Returns

Meanwhile, Moscow said that the prisoner bag in Latvia had risen to 68,578 men, 1,982 officers and 13 generals and the Baltic port of Ventspils (Windau) had been occupied following the Nazi capitulation in the Courland peninsula.

In the Danzig area, the Second and Third White Russian armies also took 55,500 Nazi troops prisoner, including the commander of the Second German army. The Hel peninsula and the Putziger Nehrung Sandspit northwest of Nehrung sandspit northwest of Czecho-Slovak President Edouard Benes had returned to the free capital of Prague tonight

Civil Air Patrol Bond Drive Exhibit To Arrive Today

The Civil Air Patrol today is bringing to Escanaba a display of war material, including the famour 4,000-pound block buster, in a campaign to spur the purchase of war bonds in the Seventh War Loan drive. The exhibit will be displayed here at Ludington and South Tenth streets.

The Escanaba Flight of the Civil Air Patrol is sponsoring the showing here, which is headed by Lt. Fred Sensiba, manager of the Escanaba airport.

Col. John F. Stratton, commanding officer of the Wisconsin Wing of the C. A. P., is directing the tour of the exhibit visiting cities in Wisconsin and Northern Michigan. Purpose of the display is to encourage the purchase of war bonds so that the war may be ended sooner with the defeat of Japan.

Feature of the exhibit is the use of regulation short wave army radio equipment in the sale of war bonds. Civil Air Patrol representatives, with portable equipment, will short wave bond purchases to the official bond headquarters, included in the exhibit.

Bonds will be delivered within a few minutes by C. A. P. cadets of Escanaba who will fill the radio orders.

The exhibit will travel approximately 3,500 miles between May 7 and July, visiting more than 40 towns. The tour is being made in cooperation with the Treasury Department for the Seventh War Loan.

and the total liberation of all Czecho-Slovakia, early victim of Hitler's plans for world conquests, was near.

In Germany, the changeover from military to administrative problems began and the Allies set about weeding out the Nazis.

Following the surrender of the fleet in Copenhagen, the Swedes announced that the Swedish navy would begin sweeping German mines from the Skagerak and Kattegat to open Sweden's door to the North Sea. The task is expected to take 100 ships two weeks.

Off France's northwestern coast, a British task force liberated the channel islands, including Jersey, Guernsey, Alderney, Sark, Herm and Jethou.

Occupation Army Formed

These tiny islands, on France's doorsteps, have belonged to England since 1066. They are the only part of the United Kingdom to have been occupied by the Nazis.

Elsewhere in liberated Europe, there were these developments:

Germany—More than 10,000 liberated prisoners of war were flown back to England by 500 Allied bombers, making approximately 50,000 within the last week.

Some American divisions assigned as occupying forces in Germany were reported already on their way to their new jobs, while Allied authorities took on the task of evacuating displaced persons and appointing non-Nazi party members to control the civilian population.

Norway—The first Allied airborne troops arrived in Oslo, including Norwegians trained in Scotland.

Denmark—Some 1,500 Russian soldiers landed on the Danish island of Bornholm.

The port of Copenhagen passed into Danish hands after five years of Nazi occupation. The last German left the administration building carrying an armchair and a lamp.

Holland—The disarming of some 120,000 Nazi troops began. In Amsterdam and other cities authorities began distributing extra food brought into Rotterdam by five mercy ships.

Italy—The Allies turned back a new slice of central territory to the Italian government, putting three-fifths of the nation and 24,000,000 people under Italian jurisdiction.

Upstate New York Blanketed By Snow

(By The Associated Press)

May snowstorms in widely separated parts of the nation brought snow drifts and low temperatures to several parts of the country yesterday (Thursday).

Upstate New York communities were blanketed under as much as three inches of snow. An all-time record was set at Albany when the airport weather station reported 2.8 inches of snow had fallen by dusk. The old mark there was one-half inch in 1907.

Scranton, Pa., had its second blanketing of the month in outlying areas. Snow fell for two and one-half hours in Detroit, while Chicago had light flurries early in the day.

Peace Feeler From Japanese Predicted

Somewhere In The Pacific, May 10. (AP)—Predicting that the Japanese will put out a strong peace feeler in the near future, Adm. William F. Halsey today said: "It would be criminal not to fight this war through to a successful conclusion."

In a speech before army, navy and marine chaplains of the Pacific ocean area, the colorful admiral said:

"There will be pressure brought to bear to accept this peace from parents at home who want to save the lives of their sons and other loved ones, but we must think also of our grandchildren as well as of our children.

"It would be criminal not to fight this war through to a successful conclusion that will leave the Japanese nation too weak to wage another war."

Quisling Has Fits; Followers Hole Up In Bunker Redoubt

BY ROBERT STURDEVANT

Oslo, May 10 (AP)—Four top members of Vidkun Quisling's Norwegian Nazi party held out in a bunker redoubt in a suburb tonight while their jailed ex-leader tore up the furnishings of his Oslo cell in paroxysms of rage.

Quisling himself was awaiting arraignment on treason charges—probably tomorrow. He was reported alternately weeping and tearing up his meager cell furnishings.

Reports in informed quarters said that German Commissioner Josef Terboven had shot and killed himself in the residence of Crown Prince Olaf at Skaugum, 12 miles from Oslo.

Food Output Hopes For 1945 Dimmed

Washington, May 10 (AP) — Unfavorable weather during April and early May, coupled with a prospective smaller production of livestock products, was toned down official hopes of a 1945 food output matching last year's record.

In its May crop report, the agriculture department said today that freezing temperatures, excessive rains and floods during the past five weeks had caused some deterioration in crop prospects. However, it forecast a record winter wheat crop.

porters as a forum to criticize sharply Russia's arrest of sixteen Polish underground leaders. He said it was "unhappy news," that many of the men had excellent records, that many were the types Britain wanted in a broadened, democratic government in Warsaw.

Now, Eden said, it is up to British, Russian and American chiefs of state to adjust the three-nation dispute over the make-up of a Polish government.

Britain and America lined up against Russia to overturn an earlier decision by the conference committee for social and economic cooperation to let representatives of a world trade union congress sit in on its meetings as observers.

Small Fruit Crop Hard Hit By Frost

Lansing, May 10 (AP)—Estimates based upon incomplete reports from all parts of Michigan indicate approximately 90 per cent of the State's small fruit crop has been damaged by frost since mid-April.

Clarence Bolander, deputy commissioner of agriculture, said the total fruit crop is expected to fall below 50 per cent of normal. Last year's fruit harvest was slightly above normal, he said.

The peach crop is expected to be more than 50 per cent of normal, the deputy said, but grapes and blueberries are "about all shot" and cherries also have been severely damaged.

He said the fruit crop was hit hardest by frosts in southwestern Michigan, where trees and bushes budded early, but damage has been general.

Community Sing On A Small Scale

San Francisco. (AP)—Pierre Monteux, conductor, his wife, and Dusolina Giannini, dramatic soprano, were waiting for a taxi late one night when a Navy petty officer approached and clapped the conductor on the back.

"I recognize you," he said, "because I go to concerts all the time. I love music—you love music—so let's all sing a song?"

"Fine," Miss Giannini said. "What shall we sing?"

"We got a quartet," the petty soldier suggested. "How about the Quartet from 'Rigoletto'?"

Guided by the deft fingers of the symphony conductor, the four voices rose above the sounds of the late traffic and sent the strains of the Verdi quartet drifting down to Union Square.

Point System Announced For Army Releases

In the case of enlisted men who are retained because they are deemed necessary it was emphasized that "military necessity" does not mean "military convenience." The decision of a company or unit commander to retain a man will be subject to higher review. However, in the case of officers, the rating score will be secondary to needs of the army and even those officers declared surplus overseas may still be kept on duty by commanders of the army ground, air or service forces.

Secretary of War Stimson, in announcing the plan, said that it probably would not please everyone, but that the army considered it to be the fairest and best system that could be devised to meet the views of soldiers themselves.

The plan was adopted only after a poll showed that 90 per cent of the men interviewed favored such a plan, the army reported.

Ninety-eight per cent of those eligible for release will be men who have served overseas. The remaining two percent will be fathers who have been in the army a long time.

Within about six weeks, the army expects to establish a critical score for the army ground and service forces; another for the air force and a third for the WACS. These probably will be lower than the interim score, according to Maj. Gen. William F. Tompkins, director of the special planning division of the war department general staff.

In determining scores only those points accumulated through May 12 will be credited. Additional credit, however, will be given for children born on or before May 12 but whose birth was not known to the soldier-father at the time he added up the score. Credit also will be given for medals and battle participation stars prior to May 12 but awarded later.

HOW TO FIGURE IT

Washington, May 10 (AP)—Here's how a G. I. Joe can figure his eligibility for discharge under the army's point system.

Suppose he's been in the army 36 months. He gets 36 points under service credit.

For 18 months he's been overseas and that adds another 18 points to his score.

He's won the Silver Star and the Purple Heart and has taken part in three major campaigns recognized officially with battle stars. Each of those awards is worth five points, so he gets another 25 points.

Back home he has a five-year-old daughter. She's worth 12 points, since she's under 18.

So, striking a balance, the soldier gets a total score of 91 points. It takes only 85 points to qualify for release, so he can count on going home unless he's an exceptionally skilled man for whom no replacement can be found immediately. But he has the army's assurance that every effort will be made to obtain a replacement for him.

FR. LAFOREST IS APPOINTED DEAN

St. Ann Church Pastor Succeeds The Late Fr. Kennedy

The Rev. Fr. George LaForest, pastor of St. Ann church in Escanaba, has been appointed dean of the Catholic clergy in the counties of Delta and Schoolcraft in succession to the Very Rev. Thomas A. Kennedy, late pastor of St. Patrick's church. The appointment was made by the Most Rev. Francis Joseph Magner, bishop of Marquette.

Father LaForest is not a newcomer to Escanaba. He was first appointed administrator of St. Ann church in 1907, during the serious illnes of the Very Rev. Fr. Peter C. Menard, pastor of St. Ann and dean of the district. In 1908 he was appointed assistant to Father Menard, and it was from here that he was appointed to his first pastorate at Perkins. While there he secured from the Neurohr family the land upon which the present church stands. Later, while pastor in Iron Mountain, he improved the St. Joseph rectory and later doubled and renovated St. Ann school in Menominee. Illness forced him to seek lighter work and in 1927 he was appointed to Flat Rock where he remained for ten years.

In 1939 he was called by the Most Rev. Bishop Joseph C. Plagens to the assignment at Vulcan from which he was returned after 18 months to the historic St. Ignatius Loyola church at St. Ignace. There he gathered funds for the reconstruction of the sanctuary and sacristry, and was awaiting the War Production Board's permit to build when he was transferred to the church of St. Ann here. He arrived in Escanaba on March 2 and has inaugurated a parish drive for the construction of a new school to replace the one now standing for 57 years.

Born at Franklin Mine, near Hancock, January 24, 1882, he attended Calumet public and parocial schools and was ordained a priest at St. Ann church in that city June 24, 1906. Illness forced him to abandon the direction of the Diocesan Holy Name Union in 1923.

Ens. Dan Garrett Promoted; Is Topic Of Newspaper Story

Ensign Dan Garrett, Jr., son of Capt. and Mrs. Dan Garrett, Coast Guard light station, Escanaba, has been promoted to lieutenant (j.g.) in the U. S. Coast Guard. He is stationed at the coast guard air station in St. Petersburg, Fla., and resides, with his wife, on Treasure Island.

Lt. Garrett was the subject of a recent news story in a St. Petersburg newspaper. The article reads:

"Ensign Dan Garrett finds duty here a pleasant change from his past experiences as a quartermaster aboard a coast guard manned assault transport during the invasion of North Africa back in November, 1942.

"Ensign Garrett, modest about his war experiences, said that he was 'just lucky.' Three ships in his convoy during the invasion of North Africa were torpedoed, one of them just a few hundred yards away.

"'All the ships looked alike,' Ensign Garrett said. 'It just wasn't our number when the torpedoes were launched from enemy subs.'

"Ensign Garrett, a veteran of nearly five years in the coast guard, was serving aboard an assault transport in convoy off Cape Hope, Africa, when the war was declared after Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941. He completed his voyage without incident, he said.

"After a trip across the Pacific to Australia, which was completed successfully, Ensign Garrett returned to the United States and entered officers' school. After graduating as ensign he took flight training and is now a full-fledged aviator."

THEIR TELEPHONE NEEDS COME FIRST!
Every landing, every offensive by land, sea or air, calls for communications. Filling the needs of our armed forces takes just about all the telephone equipment that can be made.
That's why over 100,000 Michigan people are waiting for telephones. That's why about the only telephones we can install are those which present users give up.
But telephone instruments alone wouldn't solve the problem. For example, we'd need about five billion feet—nearly a million miles—of wire in telephone cables. We'd need more and larger central offices, and the necessary switching equipment.
We have plans for a construction program costing $120,000,000 in the first five post-war years. But even with that big program, it may take two years or longer before we can install service generally without delay.
We know you want our fighting men to come first. So if you are waiting, we appreciate your patience. We will supply you with service just as soon as possible.

Quisling Feels Abused

VIDKUN QUISLING felt very much abused when he was locked in an Oslo jail after the liberation of Norway from the Nazi yoke. He raved and bemoaned the fact that he should be subjected to such treatment.

Quisling was a cheap Norwegian politician. He never got anywhere while government affairs were conducted along democratic lines in his native country. In his frustration, he collaborated with the Nazis in the hopes of advancing himself to a position of power. After the invasion of his homeland, the Nazis appointed him premier of Norway, but it was an empty honor.

Quisling apparently believed he had performed a good service for Norway, for he is reported to have complained in his cell that he was being ill-treated considering "all the good things I did for Norway."

Actually, he made only one notable contribution to Norway and the world. He is responsible for the coinage of a new word for the dictionary. The word, quisling, for centuries will be a synonym for traitor, coward and all the other opprobriums that describe persons who would sell out their country for power and privilege for themselves.

They're Not So Bad

ADOLF HITLER was able to fool many people for a long time with the Bolshevist bogy. He proclaimed himself the valiant leader who was stopping the spread of Bolshevism throughout Europe and the world. Before the recent collapse of Germany, he described the advancing Russians as murderers who would exterminate the German people, hoping thereby to arouse them to resist with fanatical zeal.

Reports from Berlin reveal the Russians are not as bad as they were painted. No other than Marshal Stalin has publicly proclaimed that the Soviet Union will not "destroy Germany or its people." To show their good intentions, the victorious Russians immediately assumed the responsibility of feeding the German people, supplementing available stocks with food brought in from Russia. In fact, the German people are now receiving more bread than the Russians were able to get in Moscow during the winter of 1942.

The attitude of the Russians toward conquered peoples is much in contrast with the ill treatment accorded slave laborers and Allied prisoners of war by the Germans. Hitler produced potent propaganda. For a long time, he caused many people to believe that the world had more reason to fear the Russians than the Nazis, and at the same time he did everything possible to make the Russians suspicious of the democracies.

With Nazism now crushed, there will be more opportunity to achieve a better understanding between the Russians and the other people of the world. Actually, they are human beings like ourselves.

No. 2 Nazi Captured

PRESS and radio correspondents, reporting the capture of Herman Wilhelm Goering by the Seventh Army, picture the reichsmarshal as a rotund, jovial individual, who might not be such a bad fellow after all.

Goering told his captors that he and Hitler were no longer on good terms. As the fall of Berlin appeared imminent, the reichsmarshal said he called the Fuehrer, reminding him of their agreement that he was to take command if anything happened to Hitler. Angered, Hitler had Goering arrested by SS troops and ordered his execution, but he was fortunately rescued later by his fliers and taken to a hiding place.

It was to be expected that the Nazi big shots would quarrel among themselves and try to pass the blame for their crimes to others. Goering has long been represented as one of the more trustworthy of the German leaders. But we should not forget that the reichsmarshal's Luftwaffe caused much unwarranted destruction of civilian lives in Poland, Rotterdam and other places. He also made himself a multimillionaire as owner of German war industries and by seizure of jewels and other valuables in conquered countries.

Goering is a murderer and plunderer like the rest of the Nazis. He is German's No. 2 war criminal, and he deserves no leniency in the Allied court of justice.

Ban Is Lifted

IMMEDIATE suspension of the ban on horse and dog racing and lifting of the midnight entertainment curfew were ordered by War Mobilizer Vinson in the wake of V-E day.

Vinson also indicated that automobile production would be resumed within several months and that there is a fair prospect of increased gasoline allowances for civilian motorists. Apparently, every effort is being made to ease the nation into a reconversion program as military needs decline coincident with the progress on the battlefronts. No improvement in the food supply situation is seen, however.

In view of the fact that racing tracks will be in full swing again, attracting motorists from considerable distance, it seems appropriate that managements of county and district fairs should begin planning for the resumption of these events. There is more justification for the holding of agricultural fairs than the operation of racetracks.

Fairs were founded centuries ago for the primary purpose of encouraging agriculture. Certainly, these time-honored institutions could be helpful in the wartime efforts to increase the nation's food supply. If it is too late to arrange for the holding of the Upper Peninsula State Fair this year, it might be well to make definite plans for its reopening in 1946.

STREET GRID SYSTEM NOT ALL BAD

(Milwaukee Journal)

City planners almost universally condemn the grid system of streets — square blocks with intersections every 300 or 400 feet, involving sharp right and left turns.

The grid system, of course, has its faults and perhaps adds to the ugliness of cities. However, those citizens who have followed one of the more modern, winding streets in this, and more particularly in some other communities, looking for a house number, do not unqualifiedly condemn the grid system.

In some American and European communities, where central squares have been used, with circular streets and many so-called contour streets around them, the location of any particular house or business number becomes as problematical as the solution of a Chinese puzzle.

Under the ugly and perhaps wasteful grid system, 2210 W. Wisconsin av., in Milwaukee, is known to be just west of 22nd st., on the avenue. But if that avenue curved magnificently, generally east and west, but in places also north and south, and if many side streets did likewise, there would be no telling where 2210 might be.

This is no conclusive argument against contour streets, or in favor of the grid system. It merely suggests that in some respects our rigid, square block metropolitan pattern is not without practical value.

PLANES ON THE FARM

(Jackson Citizen-Patriot)

Nearly 60 per cent of the market for light, personal airplanes will be in rural areas after the war, 10 per cent in suburban areas and the remaining 30 per cent in cities. This is the prediction of John W. Friedlander, president of the Aeronca Aircraft corporation of Middletown, Ohio.

Mr. Friedlander says it's time to "debunk predictions that dream up beautifully landscaped landing strips for light planes in the heart of cities for easy, simple use by commuting businessmen and women shoppers."

Light planes have certain limitations, Mr. Friedlander points out, and rural dwellers are likely to use aircraft for business as well as for pleasure. There are ample landing facilities on farms, and barns are ready-built hangars. Light planes can be used for planting seed, crop dusting, flying the range and other rural jobs.

Downtown landing strips are at present impractical, and the average urban dweller will not feel as free to use such strips as will the farmer descending on his own land.

These days it takes about a week to get shirts back from the laundry. Maybe the Mrs. is sewing the buttons on too tight.

THE OH-FICIAI IS OH-FENSIVE

Many readers have questioned the current tendency to pronounce words like occasion, offensive, official, effective, efficient, essential, with a long initial vowel, as "oh-casion, oh-fensive, oh-ficial, ee-fective, ee-ficient, ee-sential." S. W. B., of Baltimore, writes: "I know that such pronunciations cannot be right, but I'm unable to explain why."

It is very simple. "Oh-casion" for occasion, etc., is contrary to the genius of English, for this reason: vowels in an initial unaccested syllable are not given the long sound if the syllable is closed, i. e., if it ends with a consonant.

If the foregoing six words are properly divided into syllables, we see that the first syllable of each is closed: oc-ca-sion; of-fen-sive; of-ficial; ef-fec-tive; ef-fi-cient; es-sen-tial.

Therefore, the "o's" should be obscured (uh) as in opponent, occlusion (uh-POE-nent, uh-KLOO-zhun) and the "e's" should have the short or "eh" sound as in effeminate, establish (eh-FEM-i-nit, ess-TAB-lish.)

On the other hand, initial vowels are usually long in open syllables, i. e., syllables which end with a vowel, as o-me-ga, o-pin-ion, e-lec-tion, e-ter-nal (oh-MEE-guh, oh-PIN-yun, ee-LEK-shun, ee-TER-n'l.

Now it is clear that initial "oh" and "ee" in occasion, offensive, official, effective, efficient, essential, and such words, are sounds that are contrary to good usage, and are to be avoided by speakers considerate of their listeners. Be sure to say:

uh-KAY-zhun
uh-FEN-sive
uh-FISH-ull
eh-FEK-tive
eh-FISH-ent
eh-SEN-sh'l

World Events Analyzed

B. MARQUIS CHILDS

It is hard to realize that one phase — the principal phase—of the greatest war in history is at last ended. It has gone on so long, it has cut so deeply into our lives.

That bright September Sunday in 1939 when the world went to war seems infinitely far away. The Europe that existed then has been blasted off the face of the earth. The familiar pattern of European society which barely survived world war I has now been forever altered.

Childs

Perhaps a nobler pattern is coming into being. The first faint outline may be emerging at San Francisco. Certainly that is the hope of the millions who have suffered through the hideous ordeal of the past six years.

One's thoughts turn to the soldier who will never hear this news; to the leader who fell before the battle ended. If Franklin Roosevelt were here . . .

—APPEARED DISCOURAGED—

There is more and more reason to believe that in the weeks just before he died, Roosevelt felt—as he had not felt before, or as he had not permitted himself to feel—the fearful difficulties of the peace. His mood, when he returned from the Yalta conference, was as near to disillusion as a man of his sanguine temperament could ever come.

Talking privately to those closest to him, he revealed his sadness over his failure to make any progress toward certain of the ideals that were first in his thoughts. One was the plan of trusteeship for colonial peoples. He had been able to make no progress in the face of the opposition of Prime Minister Churchill. Yalta was shot through with conflict and confusion.

Yet, publicly, Roosevelt did not acknowledge any setback. It was not in his temperament to do so. It was both his strength and his weakness that he never lost a battle.

The victory that has now finally come belongs to him. It was he who resolved the doubts, the uncertainties, in the wavering months before we were attacked. Against the background of that resolve, the nation formed up for the goal which has now been reached.

"It is for us the living . . ." Lincoln's immortal words come to mind, "rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us . . ."

Those words, spoken more than 80 years ago in the midst of another terrible war, apply now almost more than they applied then. In some ways, it seems that our task has only begun. We have defeated the forces of evil, but it does not follow that virtue inevitably triumphs. That is our task—to win the peace.

—MUST AVERT INFLATION—

First of all, the line must be held for the completion of the war in the Pacific. Any precipitate relapse into greedy conflict that ignored the demands of that other war would be a betrayal of the men who must fight it.

It would also be the surest way to squander the victory here at home. We must certainly keep on the economic brakes for a long time to come. There is no other choice.

On Armistice Day, 1918, the cost of living average was 62 per cent above 1914. By the middle of 1920, it had gone up to 108 per cent. We had a brief boom, particularly in land values, and then the bottom fell out. That was the preface to another and greater boom which was followed by the depression to end all depressions. In reality, it was the preface to world war II.

Price controls have already slipped a long way. There are disquieting reports from all over the country. The administration must move quickly to tighten these controls.

It is important not only for us here at home, but for a stable peace throughout the world. One of the most essential tasks for us, the living, is to help rehabilitate liberated Europe. There can be no victory on a continent torn by disease, hunger and anarchy.

Ten bases were stolen in the first ball game between inmates of an Indiana prison. Practice makes perfect.

Being friendly with the people you meet is the easiest way to keep from being a total stranger.

Gracie Allen Says--

Well, I see Japan is angry with the Nazis for quitting, and may break off relations with German government if they can find it.

It was reported that just before Berlin fell, Hitler tried to reserve a room in Japan, but the Japs replied, "So Sorry." They said they were afraid of getting into trouble—as if they weren't in enough trouble already.

Those Japs certainly have a realistic attitude. When a thing doesn't work and isn't any good any more, they're through with it and throw it away. I wonder how soon they'll come to that conclusion about their empire.

I read a while back that the Japanese government had seized all the stop watches used in timing athletic events. Realism again. If they're going to break records losing territory, they'll have the official time.

When there were places into which to move, May used to be the month when people judged new neighbors by the furniture that went in.

Well, We Could Easily Starve It to Death

Good Morning!

MYSTERY SOLVED—The other day this column presented a question: What was the name of the ship whose hull is to be removed as a submerged obstruction near the Escanaba municipal dock?

Dunathan

The answer to that question was called "a blind spot" in local history. Well, it's a "blind spot" no longer. T. J. "Tom" Daley of 411 Ogden avenue, who has been a resident of Escanaba since 1869, has solved the mystery.

The wreck is that of the schooner John Weber, which was beached and sank about 1877 or 1878.

"I remember it well," Mr. Daley said. "I was sixteen years old at the time."

He is now 84, attained that age on his birhday April 9.

AN OLD VESSEL—The Weber was old 68 years ago when she sailed her last voyage.

"She was loaded with ore at the dock here and began to leak," Daley said. "For some reason, perhaps because the pumps wouldn't work right, or couldn't keep pace with the rising water, the Weber had to be beached.

"Her skipper ran her up on shore about 300 or 400 feet from the Stephenson dock. About 40 feet of her bow was out of water for many years and as kids we used to swim around the wreck," Daley recalls.

As the years went by, however, the Weber sank lower and lower into the water. Torn alternately by winter ice and summer wave, the Weber is remembered by Daley at a later period as having only the tip of her bow and the boom above the water. Finally she disappeared altogether.

ORE CARRIER—The 900 tons of iron ore in the Weber was never salvaged, although an attempt was made.

Daley recalls that the Weber was powered only with sails, although it is presumed that she was towed into and out of the Escanaba harbor by tugs. In those days steam was taking over the Great Lakes traffic and the days of the sailing vessel were numbered.

The old sailing schooners finally lost their proud sails and, loaded with ore, were towed dociley behind tugs.

The Weber was not a large schooner, apparently, for Daley says that in 1873 the schooner Ira H. Cobb cleared from Escanaba with 1,600 tons of ore in her hold, setting a record for vessels of her day.

For comparison it should be noted that today's "long ships" of the Great Lakes load between 8,000 and 14,000 tons of iron ore.

THAT EARLY DAY—Daley was born in Lower Michigan. The family moved to the Copper Country when he was four years old, and then to Escanaba in 1869 when he was eight.

In those days Escanaba was a pioneer town. It saw before it the promise of greatness as the first trickle of the Upper Peninsula's vast resources in ore and wood began to flow out from the lake ports.

It will be interesting to those of the present generation to know that what the local history books refer to as the Stephenson dock was built by the late J. F. Oliver, Escanaba, and for many years was known as the Oliver dock.

INFORMATION—D. A. Brotherton of 1624 Third avenue south, who has assisted previously with information about the wreck of the old schooner on the shore here, comes through with some additional facts from his scrap book.

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1935

Washington — President Roosevelt led the throng giving an official welcome to the Byrd Antartic expedition.

Harry D. Brackett of Lansing spent the week end in Escanaba.

Manistique — Francis Multhaupt and Milton LaVigne left Thursday for Glennie, Mich., where they will be located with the Glennie CCC camp.

Gladstone — Joseph Mott has been appointed chairman of the poppy sale to be conducted here by the Hiawatha Post of the VFW.

Mrs. A. O. Syverson, well known Escanaba bowler, placed first in the women's singles in the bowling tournament held recently in Iron Mountain.

Lois Ruth, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Nelson, 415 S. Seventeenth street, entertained a group of her little friends at a party arranged in honor of her birthday.

20 Years Ago—1925

Washington—The war games in the Pacific have proved that our air defense of the Hawaiian Islands is weak, and new planes will be delivered this year to bring air equipment up to date.

Leslie Winegar has returned to Minneapolis after visiting here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Winegar.

Miss Adrienne Tousignant has returned from Battle Creek where she attended a convention of the Woodmen of the World.

G. M. Mashek left for Chicago Sunday night on a business trip.

Manistique — A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Sundell at their home on North Third street.

Cattle in the backwater areas of Florida are wading back-deep into streams to feed on water hyacinths.

The first capital of the State of New York was located at Kingston. Albany was chosen in 1787.

Use fine wire to clean openings in gas range burners.

The item was clipped from the May 28, 1932 issue of the Daily Press under the heading "Do You Remember?":

"What was the first shipwreck on Bay de Noc? It was the sinking of the schooner Weber loaded with iron ore. The Weber had just received a cargo of ore from the dock and sprung a leak when only a short distance out."

AND JIM CHAMP—It was Daley's observation that too many of the early-day Escanaba pioneers are passing away without someone to set down their recollections of the past.

Daley mentioned Jim Champ in particular, who died a couple years ago. Jim's mind was as bright as a dollar almost to the last and he remembered some of the most exciting events and chapters in local history. Yet little of the information which he knew so well has been preserved.

There is the name of Sac bay below Fayette on the Garden peninsula, for instance. Daley says that Jim Champ told him that originally Sac bay was called Bag bay, presumably because of its shape. As the years passed the original name changed to Sack and was then shortened to the present Sac.

Incidentally, others have considered the possibility that Sac bay comes from "cul de sac", or perhaps was named for a tribe of Sac Indians who once occupied the Wisconsin shore of Lake Michigan.

As time goes on local history becomes more important. The past becomes more distant and therefore more exciting in retrospect. The day will yet come when a local historical organization will regret lost opportunities of obtaining first-hand accounts from local pioneers.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Col. R. S. Allen now on active service)

San Francisco — The play-by-play account of what went on behind the scenes after the United Nations Conference reluctantly voted to admit Argentina can now be revealed.

After Stettinius forced a public vote on the Argentine issue despite Russian requests for delay, he suddenly found himself catching criticism from the press and the public. Greatly upset, he hastily called a closed-door meeting of the American delegation, the air was charged with tension.

Young Rockefeller broke the ice by launching into a eulogy of the way Stettinius had handled himself.

"This country is fortunate to have its affairs in his hands," praised Rockefeller.

Another Argentine rooter, Assistant Secretary Jimmy Dunn, started to chime in but was interrupted by shrewd Hamilton Fish Armstrong, key U. S. adviser.

"I'm very disturbed by all this," said Armstrong. "I think we ought to call the press in and explain the American position. The press is calling us Fascists and Stettinius is being put in a reactionary position."

But Minnesota's quick-thinking Harold Stassen, who had been cool to Argentina's admission interrupted: "Oh yeah, what are you going to tell the press when you let them in?"

John Foster Dulles, who once represented Dictator Franco, observed that he too was worried about the public reaction.

"It's very important," Dulles said, "that the public doesn't get the feeling that our delegation is reactionary."

Again Ex-Governor Stassen interrupted to say: "I don't understand why we have to be so apologetic about something that was discussed fully in here and was then voted upon and passed. The important thing is that we work together. It's impossible to avoid all differences between nations and people."

Stassen went on to point out that there was considerable justification for the American view, even if he didn't agree with it entirely himself. He said that if there were no arguments, there was no use holding a conference.

Stettinius then said he thought Stassen's statement of the situation was so good that he ought to go on the air and present it publicly.

Jimmy Dunn next protested that the Russians were holding up the conference by refusing to permit Argentina to take the chairmanship of a conference sub-committee. He launched into a vigorous anti-Soviet tirade, paying his respects to the Russians in no uncertain terms.

Rockefeller endorsed Dunn's idea about giving Argentina a place on a conference committee.

"It's terribly important that we treat Argentina as well as anyone else," he said.

"I agree with Dunn and Rockefeller," chimed in Michigan's Senator Vandenberg. "Now that we've invited them we've got to treat them right."

But Stassen said he couldn't go along with Dunn, Rockefeller or Vandenberg.

"It's bad enough," said Stassen, "that we let them in without giving them any honors."

"Well," was Vandenberg's retort, "anything that Rockefeller wants is O. K."

Dunn suggested that the U. S. delegation should slip Argentina into the first committee vacancy they found, but Stettinius demurred.

"I've gotten into trouble enough over Argentina already," observed the harassed Secretary of State.

NOTE—Senator Vandenberg has consistently advocated a strong bloc of American Republics which are anti-Soviet, even though pro-Fascist. Argentina observed Hitler's racial laws and put hundreds in jail for political reasons.

—FLEETING FLASHES—

Joyce Turner, the young gal who seryed Westbrook Pegler with a $600,000 libel suit summons while Pegler was fast asleep in the home of San Francisco Publisher Coblentz, says that Pegler is quite good-looking when reclining on his pillow. He had the covers up around his ears when Miss Turner gently tugged at his shoulder and said: "Wake up Mr. Pegler, I have something for you."

Joshua Powers, publisher-expert on Latin America, estimates that the per capita wealth of Washington, Oregon and California is $1,500. Also he estimates that the wealth of the 11 million people living in these three western states is one billion dollars more than the wealth of all the 133 million people in the 20 other American Republics. That gives you some idea of our western economic strength compared with Latin America—11 million people wealthier than 133 million.

The Los Angeles transit lines and motor coach lines are installing radio telephone for emergency use. This is what airplanes began using long ago to regulate traffic between planes in the air and airports. The railroads are now gradually coming round to it.

Here is how one of the leading Latin American delegates sizes up the other delegates at San Francisco:

Anthony Eden—"The smartest diplomat here, he dominates the conference. By adroitly pulling wires behind the scenes he has had his way more than any other delegate."

Molotov—"Shrewd and able but leaves a sour taste on public opinion."

Stettinius—"The United States could have its shirt stolen and Stettinius wouldn't know it."

French Foreign Minister Bidault—"Sits back and watches big powers, hoping for an opening for France."

Senator Tom Connally—"Tries to run his committee of foreign ministers as he does his Senate Foreign Relations Committee back in Washington, pointing at delegates and asking them, one by one, to speak their piece."

ECONOMIST TO SPEAK IN CITY

Prof. Armstrong Booked By Rotary, Kiwanis For June 11

Prof. Floyd E. Armstrong, professor emeritus of economics and finance at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, an eminent economist, world traveler and lecturer, will address the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs of Escanaba on Monday, June 11.

Mr. Armstrong will discuss economic changes besetting the modern world and what they mean to average Americans. He has been much in demand as a speaker who enlivens a serious message with telling humor and anecdate.

A professor at M.I.T. for 20 years, Mr. Armstrong is a native of Michigan, he began his teaching career in the schools of this state and once served as an instructor at the University of Michigan where he received his degree.

Professor Armstrong fits many of the average person's problems of everyday living into the broad framework of the world struggle for economic balance and security. He brings a message of hope for the triumph of democratic processes in solving economic problems ranging from John Loe's doctor bill to the international quest for permanent peace.

20 Garden Plots Still Available

All city Victory garden plots except 20 at the Twenty-third street area have been taken, and these will be allotted to those who first make applications, City Forester Robert Clayton announced yesterday. Persons who wish to apply for one of the plots are requested by the city forester to telephone No. 2088.

The victory garden areas are now all staked out and the plots marked with the names of those who have applied, he said. At the Twenty-third street area there will be a guard on duty between 8 and 12 a. m., and 1 and 5 p. m. who will assist gardeners in finding their plots.

There also will be available literature which will be helpful to the gardener in preparing the soil, planting and maintaining his garden plot.

Club Members See Pictures Of U. S., Cuba

Members of the Escanaba Business and Professional Women's club embarked on a picture tour of the United States and Cuba at their regular meeting Monday evening at the First Methodist church. Their guide was William Warmington, cashier of the State Bank of Escanaba, whose interest in photography as a hobby has resulted in an exceptionally fine collection of colored photographs of localities with scenic and historic interest.

Mr. Warmington's picture tour took the members to the interesting and show places of Florida and Cuba, then west to Oregon and California, back to Delta county and the Upper Peninsula, with the Copper Country highlighting this group, then down to the Sturgeon Bay Peninsula and over to Washington and Rock Islands, then back to the Big Spring near Manistique. In addition Mr. Warmington's display included a number of marine and flower pictures, all beautifully photographed.

LUMBER FIRMS GIVEN WARNING

WLB's Approval Of Ten Cent Wage Boost Explained

Lumber companies not involved in a recent decision before the Regional War Labor Board in which a 10 cents general wage increase was approved for employes of 14 Michigan and Wisconsin companies, but which attempt to use the decision in that case as a basis for making wage increases to their own employes, will be regarded as violators of the Wage Stabilization Act, Louis C. Miriani, Board chairman, warned today.

Conditional upon determination by the Office of Price Administration that no change in price ceilings will be required, or if no such determination is made, then upon approval of the Director of Economic Stabilization, the Regional Board May 1 approved the raising of common labor rates of the 14 sawmills and woods operators to 67½ cents an hour in the woods and 72½ cents an hour in the mills. Corresponding increases in other classifications were ordered.

"Because news channels omitted to state that all such increases were dependent upon determination by OPA that no change in ceilings would be necessary, considerable confusion has arisen in the Upper Peninsula area," Mirfani said

"The War Labor Board wishes to make clear three points:

"1. The decision of the Regional War Labor Board applies only to the 14 companies and four locals of the International Woodworkers of America named in the dispute.

"2. Even these companies may not put the increases into effect until the Office of Price Administration or the Director of Economic Stabilization makes a finding.

"3. If the OPA supports the decision, it still will not constitute authority for companies not named in the dispute to make similar increases."

JRC Ships Afghans, Cribbage Boards To Hospitalized Men

The Junior Red Cross of Delta County has shipped fourteen knitted afghans, six to the navy training school hospital in Chicago and eight to Fitzsimmons general hospital in Denver, Colo. Six additional afghans were sent to Denver in a previous shipment.

The afghans were made by knitting small squares of varicolored yarn and sewing them together to make a blanket four feet wide and six feet long. They are used as lap robes and are greatly appreciated by convalescing servicemen.

Students of Nadon school, Flat Rock, made two afghans; Mrs. Ernest Boes, Wells, three; sixth graders of Gladstone central school one; Mary Reese Circle, Presbyterian church, two; Mary Scott Circle, Presbyterian church, two; Presbyterian guild, one; Mrs. Clarence Zerbel, one; V. F. W. auxiliary one; and Past Matrons club Eastern Stars, one.

Boys in the manual training classes of the Escanaba junior high school have made 100 cribbage boards which have been shipped to Chanute Field, Ratoul, Ill., and Harmon General hospital Longview, Tex., for the use of service men. The boards were expertly made, buffed and polished.

LT. OUELETTE DIES IN ACTION

Flier Killed On Patrol Duty At Okinawa, Parents Learn

Munising.—1st Lt. W. Kenneth Ouellette was killed in action on April 30 presumably on Okinawa, where he was on patrol duty according to the last letter received from him by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ouellette. In his letter he told of landing on Okinawa on April 3 three days after the first invasion when the first airfield had been secured. He had been on the island less than a month when he met his death. The telegram received by his parents May 4 did not state any details as to the cause of his death.

A graduate from Mather high school class of '39, he compiled a brilliant scholastic record and was elected to the National Honor society in his senior year. After his junior year he was also a Lion club sponsored delegate to Boys' State at Lansing.

He enrolled in Northern Michigan College of Education and in his second year signed up for civilian pilot training and after passing this training successfully he enlisted in the Naval Air Corps in May of 1942. He spent three months each at University of Wisconsin for additional flight training and University of Iowa for physical and ground work. He was then sent to Glenview Naval Air Station for pre-flight training. Upon graduation from Corpus Christi with his wings as a second lieutenant, Lt. Ouellette had his choice of either the Naval Air Corps or Marine Air Corps and chose the Marines.

From El Centro where he received additional training with the Marine fighter plane, the Corsair, Lt. Ouellette was promoted to 1st lieutenant in August of 1944. After serving for a short while as instructor, he was sent overseas on Dec. 17.

In his letters to his parents he wrote of hopping from one island to another as soon as the ground forces had secured an airfield and lately had "complained" that the squadron he was with never saw much active duty as the naval and ground forces were shooting the Jap planes before they had a chance at them.

Lt. Ouellette is the second local fighter pilot reported as killed in action in the Pacific battle. Lt. (jg) Ralph Gunville met his death in a carrier take-off in November of 1943.

KILLED IN ACTION—1st. Lt. W. Kenneth Ouelette was killed in action April 30, presumably on Okinawa, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Ouelette, of Munising, have been informed by the war department.

Mather High School Annual Frolics To Consist Of 12 Acts

Twelve acts are scheduled for the 1945 edition of the Mather high school Frolics. You are assured two solid hours of fun and frolic. The performance will start promptly at 8:15 with a rousing number by the special Frolics band.

A special novelty number for this performance will be a roller skating act by Nancy Olson and Leo Mercier. As usual the number, directed by Mrs. E. S. Walters, will be novel and fitting. This time it is a colorful military drill participated in by some of the school's prettiest girls.

Doug Belfry will present a group of songs. He is sure to repeat his success of previous years.

There will be three dance numbers, a clown dance by the seventh grade, a pirate dance by the eighth grade under the direction of Mrs. Lucille Strom, and an individual number by Phyllis Louis.

There will be a musical number by the high school chorus, featuring the Lezotte sisters, Kathryn and Janet. A novel dramatic number by a select group of seventh graders is promised. This will be distinctly different.

The Maddox sisters, Margaret and Shirley, will sing with guitar accompaniment. This will be Margaret's third annual appearance in the Frolics. The Hi-Y Quartet will warble sweet sounds too.

A young lady who is budding rapidly into an exceptional clarinet soloist, Nancy Wood, will have a good spot on the program.

And last but certainly not least will be the Tumble Bugs, rarin' to show the stunts they have learned since their last appearance.

In Memoriam

In sad but loving memory of our beloved wife and mother who passed away four years ago today, May 11, 1941.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember her who once was here,
And who, though absent, is just as dear.

Wood, of Manistique, Michigan, for extraordinary heroism in connection with military operations against the Germans in Luxembourg. Lt. Wood is a platoon leader in Co. 'B', 773rd Tank Destroyer Battalion.

"Last January, Lt. Wood (then a 2nd lieutenant) led his men into action while searching for a number of enemy tanks known to be in the vicinity.

"Advancing on foot through heavy fire, he determined the exact location of several German tanks, then led his own force of tank destroyers against them.

"Directing fire from the open deck of his vehicle, Lt. Wood succeeded in knocking out three of the enemy tanks.

"After he dismounted to place infantry troops in advantageous positions, the Germans attacked again. The officer once more led his tank destroyers to the attack and destroyed two additional German tanks.

"Lt. Wood's leadership and heroism earned for him the D. S. C."

But even though war is a grimly serious business, it has its lighter moments. Lt. Wood, in a recent letter to his father, says:

"Poked our nose into another border line on my birthday, but can't tell you where. Maybe the papers will tell you. Something to remember for a while . . . we did get a hot reception. Had a case of eggs on the back of our vehicle (donated by the Germans) and a sniper raised heck with them.

"The five tanks mentioned here are part of the eight we knocked off that time. The other three were accounted for by our second section . . . We were attacked five times in one town in two nights and one day.

"I hope this mess is cleared soon as it's so useless for them to keep on. Anyone killed now is just waste of good men."

Daughter Born To Mr. and Mrs. Chase

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Chase of St. Paul, announce the birth of a daughter Tuesday at St. Mary's hospital, Minneapolis. The little lady weighs 8 pounds, 7 ounces, and has been named Sandra Kaye.

Mr. Chase, who up to recently was in charge of the local forest ranger station, is now stationed at St. Paul. His work, which is with a Lake States portion of the national survey calls for much traveling through various parts of his district. He expects to visit Manistique before long.

He entered the Coast Guard in January, 1942. He wears the American Theater and European-African-Middle East Theater service ribbons with a bronze star attached to the latter.

Olsen is married to the former Ann Johanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Johanson of 204 West Ridge St., Marmettem, Mich. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Omer A. Olsen.

BROWNOUT AND CURFEW PAST

Are First Of War Curbs To Be Discontinued Here

Two minutes to midnight will no longer be the incentive for frantic demands for service at taverns and road houses in the Manistique area. Tiplers may take their own sweet time about placing their orders for their favorite brand of nose paint with the calm assurance that Uncle Sam no longer considers it unpatriotic to make whoopie after the witching hour. Curfew regulations affecting the closing of bars, cafes and places of amusement at 12 o'clock have been done away with. Albert J. Gazvoda, head of the office of the War Manpower commission, announced the lifting of the restriction in a communication to the local WMC office Thursday morning.

Concurrent with this order was one doing away with brownout regulations. This, it is understood, will mean that electric signs may again pierce the gloom along Manistique's main streets.

HONORS GIVEN TO BOY SCOUTS

Receive Awards At An Impressive Court Of Honor

Awards of merit badges and words of praise for the good work accomplished were given fifty Boy Scouts from Manistique and Cooks troops at a Court of Honor ceremony at the Manistique high school auditorium Wednesday evening.

A large class of Scouts from Cooks were presented certificates indicating their advancement to second class Scouts. The presentation was made by Hans Lund. This was an especially proud moment for sponsors of the troop from the Inwood community because every member of the troop had earned the advancement award.

Manistique Scouts were presented with first and second class certificates, merit badges and four received Star awards.

A short talk was delivered by the Rev. P. S. Nestander of Zion Lutheran church in which he called upon them to become members of the "Three-H Club." "Use your head," he told them. There are innumerable instances, he told them where men achieved success not because they were brilliant students, but because they "used their heads." He also spoke for "consecrated hands and pure hearts."

Introduced at the meeting were the members of the newly reorganized Troop 462.

Judge W. G. Stephens in welcoming the boys to the Court of Honor, stated that they have acquired a new meaning to him. "I now regard you as the citizens of tomorrow, rather than the soldiers of tomorrow," he said.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR

She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

WILL GET GAS FOR FARMWORK

Farmers' Needs Must And Will Be Taken Care Of

Farmers who are threatening to curtail production because of apparent restrictions in the amount of motor fuel at their disposal, should reconsider and talk things over with ration board officials, says Judge W. G. Stephens, chairman of the Schoolcraft county panel.

Full scale production of agricultural products is vitally necessary for the welfare of this country and for the millions of people of Europe who will be utterly dependent upon us for food, says Mr. Stephens, and the motor fuel needs of farmers will be taken care of he adds.

Some misunderstanding had arisen over the allotments of gasoline and other motor fuels given farmers when they made application to the ration board for fuel with which to carry on their work. Estimates of the amounts of crops to be raised which were submitted by the farmers were met with allotments of motor fuel based on government schedules. In many instances the amounts of gasoline rationed to farmers are considered too low for their needs and the farmers seeing their supply curbed, are threatening to conduct operations in a manner which will fit their rationing budget.

Mr. Stephens states that they must not do this. If they haven't enough motor fuel with which to adequately carry on their work, ways and means, he said, would be provided to remedy the situation.

That's true in brewing as well as fishing. The brewers of Fox De Luxe have the "know how" which comes from long experience in making fine all-grain beer. And they take plenty of time for ageing. Notre Dame Tries To Stop Michigan

Detroit, May 10 (AP) — A half dozen college baseball games Friday send the State's week-end spring sports program off to a flying start, with Notre Dame trying to curb Michigan's nine-game winning streak in the feature clash at Ann Arbor.

Michigan, which tagged Notre Dame twice on its own lot in piling up its nine straight wins, face the Irish in a return two-game series Friday and Saturday.

Michigan State, seeking its fourth straight diamond win, opens a Friday-Saturday set at Ohio State while Western Michigan tries to duplicate a previous 19 to 2 win over the University of Chicago in a Friday clash on the Maroons' diamond.

University of Detroit is at Michigan Normal, Wayne at Romulus Air Base and Central Michigan at Ft. Custer for other Friday games.

Two major track meets — the state intercollegiate championships at East Lansing and a quadrangular affair matching Michigan Illinois, Ohio State and Great Lakes at Ann Arbortop the state's Saturday collegiate sports slate. Four baseball games, a pair of tennis meets and three golf matches also are on tap for Saturday.

If you can't find salt pork for your baked beans try sliced frankfurters or Polish or Italian sausage instead.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

Baseball club owners are convinced that their manpower shortage has reached its peak and that a steady improvement can now be expected, as a result of the victory in Europe. This belief is fortified by the army's announcement of future manpower needs and by the rescinding the special rule requiring Washington reviews of 4-F classification of professional athletes. In the future a ball player rated 4-F by an induction board will be certain of his right to continue playing ball. Some athletes who were inducted under that special rule, even though found unqualified for general military service, probably will be released from service.

A couple million soldiers will be discharged during the next year and many of them undoubtedly will be former professional ball players, who will return to the diamond. Moreover, there is every indication that future draft calls will concentrate on younger men which means, of course, that most of the present contingent of professional ball players will not be subject to military service since the men under 30 have already been inducted. An increase in available manpower for professional baseball naturally means a probable improvement in quality particularly in the big leagues which now includes a large number of players who normally would get only a passing glance by big league scouts.

It's neither the Chicago White Sox, current leaders in the American league, nor the St. Louis Browns, defending champions, whom the Tigers regard as their No. 1 pennant threat. As you may have expected, it's the New York Yankees. The Tigers, now engaged in their first series of the year with the Yankees, figure the New Yorkers have good balance, strong hitting and dependable pitching. The Tigers currently are getting the best pitching in the league, but the Bengals have not shown any strong hitting. York has been a disappointment thus far, as has Cullenbine, who last year knocked in 80 runs for Cleveland. Mayo has been carrying the heavy hitting load for the Tigers thus far, with an assist by Doc Cramer. They are the club's only .300 hitters.

If the Tigers are worrying about the current edition of the New York Yankees, it is simply because Bengal bosses are intelligent enough to take first things first. Nevertheless, the real worry is that the Yankees will get back—this year—some of their high-powered stars now in military uniforms. They include such men as Joe DiMaggio, Charles Keller Bill Dickey, Red Ruffing, Spud Chandler, Marius Russo, George Selkirk, Rollie Hemsley, just to mention a few. There is more than a slim chance that some will return in time to play a big part in the current campaign. The Yanks wouldn't need many men of this caliber to turn the race into a rout.

Sure, other clubs have been hard hit by the draft, too, but there is no getting around the fact that the Yanks were hit hardest of all. The return of DiMaggio alone, in fact, would probably be all that the Yanks need to assure the 1945 league flag. DiMaggio has a stomach ulcer and conceivably would be among those eligible for early discharge. The hard hitting Italian, however, has indicated at various times that he would not return to professional baseball until after the war, even if he were discharged before that time. Whether he will stick to that idea when the time comes to make the decision is still problematical.

BROWNIES WHIP SENATORS, 10-2

St. Louis, May 10 (AP)—The St. Louis Browns made merry with two Washington pitchers tonight, batting them for 15 hits, including Vernon Stephens' fourth homerun of the season, to defeat the Senators, 10 to 2.

Jack Kramer, Brownie right-hander, allowed only five hits and breezed along very effectively except for one inning when the Senators bunched two of their blows with an error to score their two runs.

The game, the only major league contest of the day, was played in temperatures ranging around the middle 40's.

BIG TEN TRACK TEST SATURDAY

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 10 (AP)—A pint-size preview of the Big Ten outdoor track championships is in prospect here Saturday when Michigan, Illinois and Ohio State get together with Great Lakes in a major quadrangular meet.

The outcome is figured to serve as a yardstick on title hopes of the three standout Big Ten rivals, who join the rest of the circuit in the 1945 conference championships May 26 at Champaign, Ill.

Six of the 81 individuals entered in the quadrangular affair are national champions. Michigan has entered 29 men, Ohio State 23, Great Lakes 15 and Illinois 14.

Ross and Bob Hume, who hold the National Intercollegiate mile crown, will be pacing the Wolverine squad again and the Sailors' two champions are Grover Klemmer, who hold the world record in the 440-yard run, and Les Eisenhart the National AAU 1,000-yard titlest.

Johnny Schimdt, who is both Big Ten and NCAA pole vault champion, is Ohio State's strongest contender while the Illini will have Boby Kelley, conference 440 and 880 champion who holds the NCAA half mile crown. Illinois also has Hen the Big Ten broad jump titlist, and the top conference mile relay team.

At least three of the races in 13-event show figure to be standouts with keen competition among the individual aces.

The "dead heat" Hume twins will run against Eisenhart and possibly Kelley in the mile run. Eisenhart, Kelley and Ross Hume will be matched again for the half mile and Kelley, Klemmer and Michigan's Dick Forrestel will meet in the quarter mile.

Entire Major League Schedule Washed Out

New York, May 10. (AP)—For the second time this young season, old man Jupiter Pluvius washed out the entire major league baseball day schedule today with only the Washington-St. Louis night game remaining.

With 21 playing days of the season gone by, the 16 big league teams have already been plagued with 45 postponements, 24 in the National league and 21 in the American. The Chicago White Sox, Boston Braves and Cincinnati Reds have suffered the most, each being washed out of eight games.

"RAIN, SNOW AND COLD"

Detroit, May 10. (AP)—Old man weather flaunted his power in the faces of the Detroit Tigers again today, forcing postponement of the second game of their series with the New York Yankees because of "rain, snow and cold."

For the Tigers, the postponement was the seventh this season because of weather.

Hal Newhouser, ace Tiger left-hander trying for his third win, and either Atley Donald or Walter Dubiel of the Yanks were named as mound rivals in tomorrow's single game which winds up the Yanks' first trip to the Motor City.

Newhouser, who blanked the St. Louis Browns with a one-hit pitching job his last time out, thus has an opportunity to hurl the Tigers into first place for the first time this season. Chicago, boasting a half-game edge over second place Detroit, meets Philadelphia.

The Tigers will be after their fourth straight win in the finale of the Yankee set. In their last three games just one run has been scored by the opposition against the hurling of Newhouser, Al Benton and Paul (Dizzy) Trout.

Benton was in line to pitch the Saturday opener of a three-game series against the Boston Red Sox, making their first appearance here this year.

TWO FILE FOR SCHOOL BOARD

W. Warmington, Harold Crebo Candidates In Election

William Warmington will be a candidate for reelection for a four-year term as a trustee of the Escanaba board of education and Harold E. Crebo will be a candidate for the unexpired term of Victor Nelson at the annual school election June 11, it was announced yesterday. Crebo was appointed to fill the vacancy created by Nelson's resignation.

Alfred LaBranche recently announced his candidacy for a four-year term on the board of education. Joseph Charlebois, whose term expires June 30, is not a candidate for reelection.

The unexpired term of Victor Nelson, for which Crebo is the only announced candidate thus far, runs to June 30, 1947. Warmington is now serving his second term on the school board.

Registration for the school election will be held Saturday at the No. 1 fire station, the Jefferson school and the No. 2 fire station.

LIGHT CRUISERS TOUGH

The Japanese fleet, what's left of it, finds it a wise move to steer a course away from the Navy's light cruisers. These cruisers can fire a dozen 5-inch shells per minute per gun at a target 10 miles away, or as high as six miles in the sky.
